AKSHAYA CENTRE THRIKKADEERI

Staff guide

How to use your own login.

Counter

Enter each customer's service charge as you finish the work.

Credit

Write a credit when the customer will pay later, and update it when they pay.

Note

See your own month as percentages. No rupee figures.

You only see your own work. This guide does not cover closing, salary, expenses, or any other account.

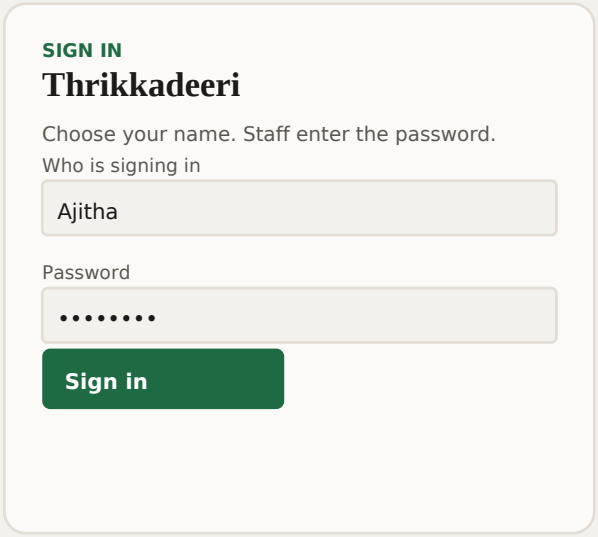

SIGN IN

Open your own name

On the computer, open the centre link. The page asks who is signing in.

1. Open the list and choose your name.
2. Type the password the centre gave you.
3. Press Sign in. Counter opens.
4. If a message says the password is wrong, try once more. If it still fails, ask the centre to reset it. Do not use another person's name.

A new staff name appears in this list after the centre adds it. You do not create your own account.

Before you leave the seat

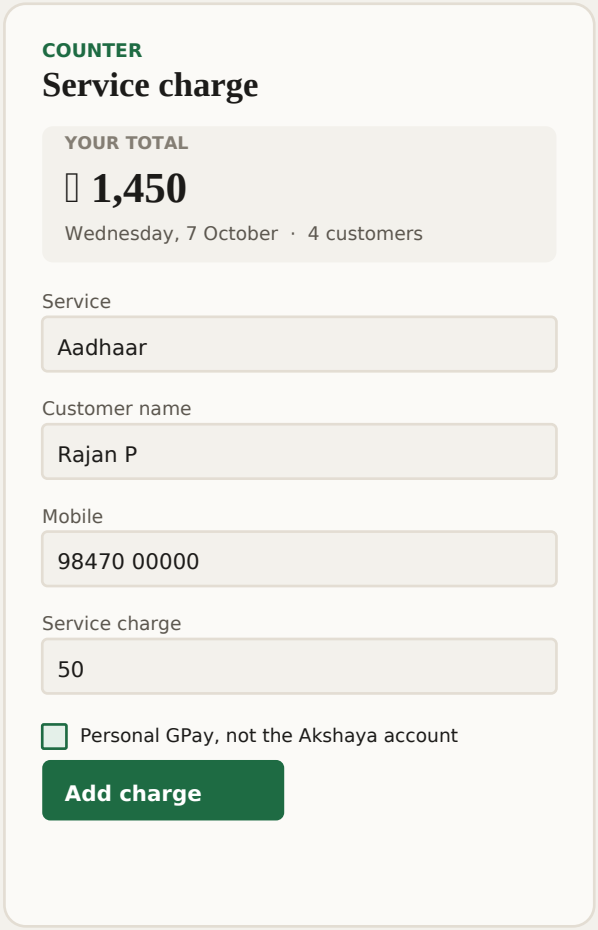

- Press Sign out. The next person should see the login page, not your work.
- Closing the browser also ends the sign-in. Next time, choose your name again.

COUNTER

Enter the charge

Do this for every customer, as soon as the work is finished. You see only your own total and your own list.

1. Service. Pick from the list, or type the service if it is not there.
2. Customer name and mobile.
3. Service charge. The fee for that work only.
4. Tick the box only if the customer paid by GPay to a personal number, not the Akshaya account. Leave it unticked for cash and for the Akshaya account.
5. Press Add charge. A message says it was saved, or why it was not.

Services already in the list

Aadhaar · Certificate · E-district · PSC · Passport · PAN · Ration card · Utility bill · Photocopy. You can type any other service.

If the amount is wrong

Your customers are listed under the form. Press Edit on that person, correct the amount or the mobile, and press Save. The day total changes with it.

When the centre has closed the day, the page says Day closed. Do not add another charge. The next working day starts empty for you.

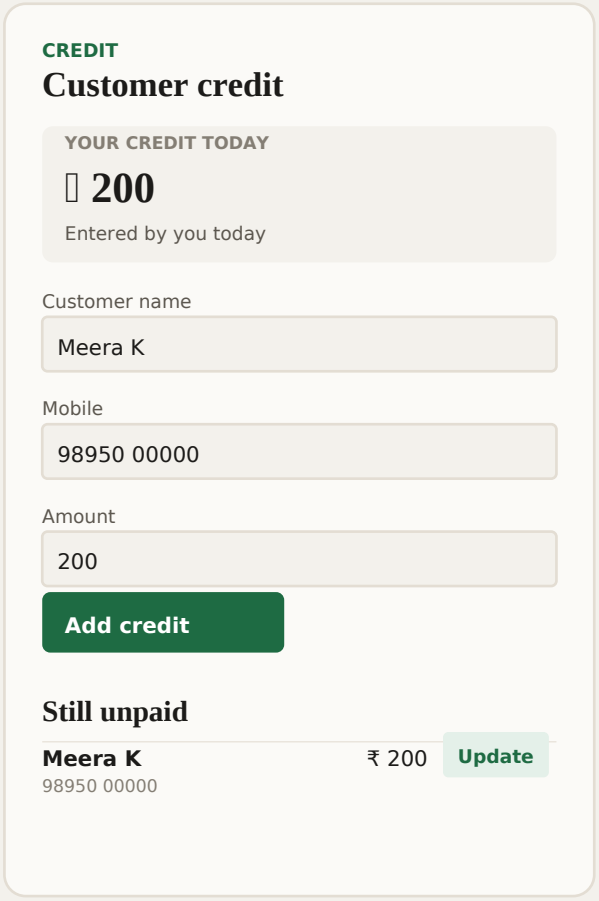

CREDIT

When they pay later

Credit means the customer still owes the centre. Enter it the same day. When they come back, update that same row.

1. Open Credit.
2. Type the customer name, mobile, and the amount they still owe.
3. Press Add credit. The name stays under Still unpaid.
4. When they pay, press Update on that name.
5. If they pay the full amount, leave the figure and press Paid. If they pay only part, type what they paid, then press Paid. The balance comes down.

Do not type a later payment as a new credit. Use Update on the unpaid row, or the same customer will look unpaid twice.

What the two totals mean

- Your credit today — new amounts customers still owe, entered by you today.
- Your debit today — amounts you marked as paid today.

NOTE

Your month, in percentages

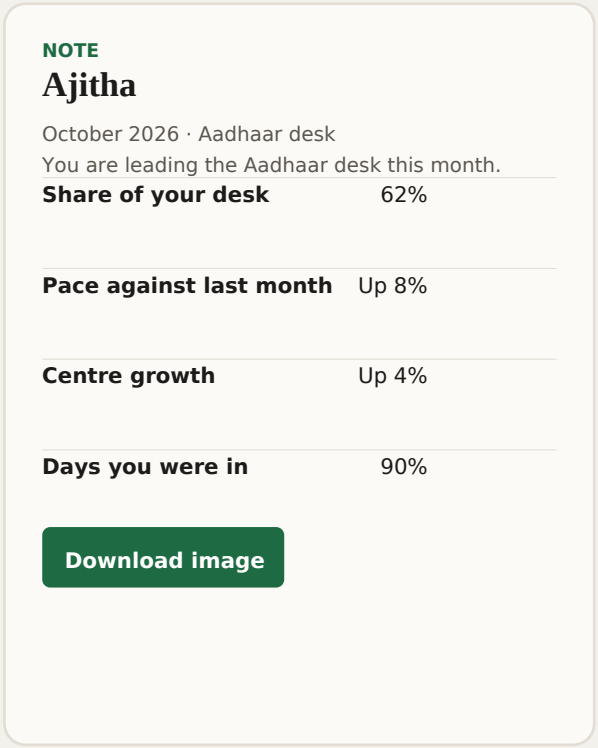

Open Note to see your own month. The page never shows rupees. You are compared with your own desk and with your own last month, not with another desk.

You may see

- Your share of your desk.
- Your pace against last month, so a part-finished month is not treated as a full month.
- Centre growth this month.
- Working days you were in.

Press Download image if you want to keep the note or send it. The arrows at the top change the month.

The picture on the right is an example only. Your own note uses your own figures.

Password

Press Password at the top. Type the current password, then a new one of at least 8 characters, then the same new password again. A message confirms it changed. Next time, use the new one.

If you forget the password, ask the centre to reset it. Do not share your password, and do not write it on the computer.

Each day

- Sign in with your own name.
- Enter every service charge on Counter before you leave that customer.
- Enter a credit the same day, and press Update when it is paid.
- Sign out when you leave the seat.
